CALDER SAYS SIGNS MEAN PROSPERITY

Tells Farmers at Catskill He Is Their Friend and Works for Them.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
CATSKILL, Oct. 16.—Addressing an audience at the Community Theater tonight United States Senator William M. Calder said:

"There are more active buyers of your produce to-day than one year ago.
Last year there were 5,000,000 enemy ploys. To-day there is work for every man who wants to work, and a man at work buys more than when he is jobless. We have turned business depression and agricultural stagnation into productive activity, and the signs everywhere indicate a return of prosperity.

"If it had not been for a Congress which recognized the vital importance of agriculture to the prosperity of the nation we would to-day still be in the throes of depression. As a member of the United States Senate I am proud of this record, and when I ask the farmers of Greene county and New York State whether they wish this kind of constructive work in the interest of the farmers continued or stopped I have no doubt about their answer. I have not only been a friend of the farmer but I have worked for the farmer in Washington, and work counts more than friendship when the prosperity of agriculture and the nation is at stake."

MRS. C. D. GIBSON JOINS WORKERS FOR SMITH

Women's Committee Listens to Drawing Room Speeches.

Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson yesterday joined the women's committee working to elect Alfred E. Smith Governor. She will take active part in the preparations for the political rally to be held November 2 in the Town Hall. The committee held its first drawing room meeting at the house of Mrs. David Houston, 863 Park avenue. The speakers were Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, secretary of the Citizens' Committee for Alfred E. Smith, and Miss Frances Ferkins.

A resolution by the Democratic Union of Women pledged members to work for the election of their candidate because of his promise if elected to repeal the Lusk bills, to restore the direct primary and to recreate in the Labor Department the Bureau of Women in Industry.

Among those present were Mrs. John Blair, Mrs. Wallington H. Brown, Mrs.
Sumner Gerard, Mrs. Norman Davis and Miss Ethel Stebbins, who presided.

BANTON TO PROSECUTE 'SATYRICON' SPONSORS

District Attorney Calls Book
'Indecent Literature.'

Joab H. Banton, District Attorney, announced yesterday that reports have convinced him that the publication of the so-called idiomatic translation of 'Satyricon' by Petronius Arbar, violates Section 1141 of the Penal Law, prohibiting the publication of indecent literature. He said he intended to prosecute responsible parties.

Mr. Banton said he had not decided whether he would request Chief Magistrate William McAdoo to hold a hearing or whether the matter should be presented to the Grand Jury.

Ferdinand Pecora, Chief Assistant District Attorney, said the book violated the law, but that he would continue his reading of it before taking any action.
Some time ago Magistrate Charles Oberwager threw out a complaint made by John S. Sumner of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, H. B. Liveright, the publisher, is suing Sumner for $25-000 damages. The book sells for $20 a copy. It purports to reflect the degeneracy of ancient Greece.

NO DOOR TO WIFE DESERTER.

Canada Closed by Addition to Extradition Offenses.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16.—Willful desertion or non-support of minor or dependent children has been added to extraditable offenses between the United States and Canada.

The addition was made in a supplementary convention signed at London on May 15 by Ambassador Harvey and Lord Curzon. It was ratified on July 25 and becomes effective ten days after its publication to-day.

ment, irrespective of the interest of the great country of which they were but a part."

Power Behind Machinery.

"In other words, it was not the executive budget that made the machinery of the Government work. It was Gen.
Dawes, backed by Warren G. Harding, that made the machinery of the Federal Government work for the first time in 132 years. Gen. Dawes made another observation that fittingly describes in different phrase what I have referred to in discussing Mr. Smith's admission that every request of every special interest was granted by him."

"In picturesque phrase the General said: 'The trouble is the cowardice in Congress. Men in office who would barter the interests of their country in order to stay in office, and if there is any organized opposition they run. Look at the way they ran before the organized minorities of the soldier bonus bloc, farm bloc, labor bloc, the maternity bloc, the good roads bloc. The damned cowards run and run.'"

"Expressed in different phrase, upon his own admission Mr. Smith undertook to make himself a good fellow at the expense of the taxpayers and it cost them $54,000,000 in new taxes the last year he was in office."

"One word more about this proposal to put a man in charge of the government of this State who confesses that he cannot run it without a Constitutional amendment that cannot be made during his term of office. He says that the trouble has been due to the overlapping of the 137 departments that ought to be coordinated into eighteen. But by that statement he displays lack of knowledge of the business of the State government."

"The fact is you cannot change the business methods by moving divisions and bureaus about from one department to another as you would checkers on a checkerboard. You can change the business methods of the State only by substituting good business methods for bad business methods, and no matter what your form of organization may be it will not work in the public interest unless you apply business methods, and no matter what it may be it will work fairly well if you do apply business methods."

Effectiveness of the Speech.

The foregoing, as delivered by the Governor, formed perhaps his most effective speech of the campaign thus far. It was frequently and enthusiastically applauded. At the outset he said the campaign appears to be resolving itself into a contest between lung power and facts, between the record of performance and assertions, that he was standing on the record and the facts.
"In his first utterance," the Governor continued, "Mr. Smith raised the issue of special interests which, he says, control the Republican party and which, he has specifically asserted, dominated me.
An honest man does not have to profess his honesty every day, and when he does it is well to be on guard, and when he accuses the other man it is well at least to be suspicious."

"I am not suggesting that Mr. Smith has been controlled by special interests, but, the public knows, every one who is transacted at Albany knows that the so-called corporate special interests have had very short shift for the last two years."

Thereupon the Governor went methodically at work to compare the treatment that corporations and special interests received from the Smith administration and from the Miller administration, asserting that they had managed to get about what they wanted or to prevent what they did not want when Smith was in office, but that they had been made to walk the plank line by him.

First he took up the traction interests, saying that Mr. Smith either has a very poor memory or else thinks the public has a poor memory. He preferred to believe that the defect was with Mr.
Smith's memory, since he was not going to charge Mr. Smith with deliberate misrepresentation, as he is nightly being accused by the former Governor.
"The fact is," continued Gov. Miller, "that the traction interests did go to Mr. Smith. What did he propose? That the matter be referred back to the city administration? No. That it be referred to a tribunal upon which the city administration was represented? No.
He asked that the Legislature empower him to create two State agencies where there had been but one, one of them to deal with transit construction, the other to possess regulatory powers, including the power to regulate rates. He appointed Mr. Nixon to the latter position.
So far as the public knows, Mr. Nixon's sole activity during his incumbency in office was centered in an attempt to increase the fares to eight cents."

Then the Governor stated what he had done, lodging all power in the Transit Commission, and maintaining that service has been improved, plans for extensions made and plans for a permanent solution of the problem and for complete reorganization to undo the evils of the past laid out. He went on:

"The traction interest knocked at the door of that commission at the outset demanding an eight cent fare and said they could not give the people service without an eight cent fare. They were plainly told that the commission had been set to the task of bringing about a permanent solution of an intolerable condition and that any question of fares would have to be suspended until that solution had been worked out."

"They were told that the companies themselves would have to adjust themselves to a five cent fare and that they would have to begin to undo some of the evils of the past in preparation for the final solution."

COPELAND SAYS CALDER IS GLOVE MEN'S AGENT

Asserts He Followed Their Bidding in Framing Tariff.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Dr.

Royal S. Copeland, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, asked his audience to-night if it desired to be represented in the Senate by "a man who has publicly stated that he would sacrifice $25,000 to lose the friendship and esteem of certain interests."

Dr. Copeland charged that his Republican opponent, Senator William M.
Calder, who is a candidate for reelection, had done the bidding of the glove interests when Congress framed the present tariff.

Aside from his attack on Senator Calder the Democratic candidate's entire address was based on the new tariff, which, in addition to other imposts, he alleged would add "$230,000,000 every year to the fat bank deposits of the beef trusts."

HUGHES TO SPEAK HERE IN SUPPORT OF MILLER

Other Republicans to Join State Campaign.

Charles E. Hughes, Secretary of State, will be spokesman for the Harding Administration in joining approval of Gov.
Miller and appealing to the reason of the voters of this State to reelect him for another two years at Albany.

Mr. Hughes will speak at a mass meeting in Cooper Union on the evening of November 1. Gov. Miller may be present if his schedule permits. Mr. Hughes will make two other speeches in aid of the Congressional campaigns, one in Boston on October 30 and another in New Jersey on October 31. The place for the latter has not been fixed.

Senator Watson of Indiana is also to speak in this State for the Congressional ticket. He will be in Utica on October 25. Other Republicans who are leaders in Congress and perhaps one or two other members of the Harding Cabinet may speak for Gov. Miller.

COHALAN MANAGERS PROMISE SENSATION

William Travers Jerome to Address To-night's Meeting.

Surrogate Cohalan's campaign managers were promising yesterday that they would spring at least one sensation to-night at their rally in Town Hall. William Travers Jerome will speak.

The Cohalan managers are nervous themselves, it appears, over what Jerome may say. At the first Cohalan meeting recently Jerome charged that he knew of $50,000 having been passed in Murphy's room in Delmonico's to facilitate the payment of money due on city contracts and then said he might have something further to add at the next meeting. The Rev. Dr.
George R. Van de Water, rector of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church in Harlem, wrote yesterday to the Cohalan Committee, endorsing the Surrogate's candidacy.

TO NAME JUSTICE CANDIDATE.

The Republican Joint Committee of Manhattan and Bronx counties will meet this evening at Bryant Hall, Sixth avenue and Forty-first street, to nominate a candidate for Justice of the City Court.

His bank clears the way to a larger market

AN American manufacturer's chief problem was how to find a new market for surplus production. His product was "seasonal." And so he had thought of building up a "fill in" trade with South America where the seasons are reversed.

But he knew next to nothing of how to go about it.
Where were the best markets? What were the credit ratings of the most likely customers? How could he put through credit transactions without tying up too much working capital? He turned to his bank for counsel.

The bank's specialists in various phases of foreign trade were called in. Trade practices and methods of doing business of the countries in question were discussed.
Cables for the latest information on many points were sent to the bank's special correspondents. Within a short time necessary data had been collected to answer accurately all of his questions and to enable him to make a definite plan of action.

Incidents such as these point to the increasing importance of commercial banks in business, which is leading to new economies in the use of working capital—

By giving expert advice in financing and in handling credits,

By eliminating delays in collections and in shipments, By furnishing world-wide facilities for ascertaining promptly reliable information on market conditions at home and abroad.

Pre-eminently a commercial bank for over seventy years, the Irving National Bank has built up many, highly specialized departments—all designed to help its customers use their capital more efficiently.

A visit to the nearest Irving Office and a talk with the officers in charge will suggest how these facilities can serve in your business and personal affairs.
